

PRESIDENT CALLS HANNA TO HELP SETTLE STRIKE.

Long Conference at the White House Over the Situation in Coal Regions—Riot in West Virginia, in Which a Mine Boss Is Killed.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—President Roosevelt to-day had a long conference at the White House with Senator Hanna on the coal strike. The President conveyed to Mr. Hanna the idea that he would very much like to do something toward settling the strike. Nothing definite, however, was decided upon.

The President also sent for Carroll D. Wright, the Commissioner of Labor to get his views on the situation and also as to what might properly be done by the Government looking to a settlement of the controversy.

It is probable other conferences will be held and the President kept advised of the situation. He will be in readiness to extend aid if it is found that he can be of service in settling the difficulties that exist between the operators and miners.

STRIKERS KILL MINE BOSS IN A WEST VIRGINIA RIOT.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., June 7.—It is reported from Keystone that a fight took place this afternoon between mine officials and the strikers. A mine boss was killed and several persons were injured.

The fight followed a marching demonstration by the strikers.

EFFIGY OF MORGAN HANGED BY STIKERS.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 7.—An effigy of J. Pierpont Morgan was hanged to-day in one of the streets of South Wilkesbarre by a crowd of men and boys. After the effigy had been run up the crowd cheered and pelted the object with stones, until the police came along and dispersed the several hundred persons that made up the throng.

After a week's effort the strikers of the Forty Fort Colliery managed to induce one of the workers to quit work, and his advent to their ranks was greeted with cheers. A special ceremony was then performed. An effigy which had been hanging before his house was taken down with much ceremony. It was placed on a board and borne on the shoulders of four men and carried to a field. There a score of willing men dug a shallow grave and the effigy was buried.

A small mob of women and strikers attacked the Coal and Iron policemen at the coal mine at Princeton, and John Melvin, one of the deputies, was beaten and forced to leave the workings. Much excitement prevailed.

When Melvin was attacked his wife pushed her way through the crowd, throwing her arms around her husband to protect him. She cried out to the strikers that Melvin would not enter the colliery again if he be permitted to go peacefully home. Quiet was then restored.

This trouble marked the complete victory of the miners in persuading the non-faithful members of their organization to leave the Princeton and John Melvin, one of the deputies, was beaten and forced to leave the workings.

ALL COAL AND IRON POLICEMEN TO QUIT.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 7.—All the coal and iron policemen employed by the Delight and Wilkesbarre Coal Company at its collieries in this district have promised the United Mine Workers to quit work to-day. They have been assured they will not be molested, and will be allowed to leave town.

The men since the arrest of the four accused of shooting little Charles McCann have been frightened so that they are eager to get away. Yesterday those at the Stanton, where the shooting occurred, walked out, and now the mine is deserted. This morning there are fifteen feet of water in the shaft and

A FREE SOUVENIR FROM MONT PELEE.

The Evening World Will Mail to Each of Its Readers That Applies a Sample of the Volcanic Dust from Martinique.

Seven tons of the burning dust under which ill-fated St. Pierre, in the island of Martinique, was buried on August 8, and which made a vast shroud for 30,000 souls, was brought to this port on Tuesday by the British ship Leona, Capt. Nibbs. This dust is of a beautiful drab color and may be preserved in a phial or test tube. It is the absolute residue of matter that has passed through the fiercest heat of the internal earth. It comes from unknown and unmeasurable depths and is often propelled to a height of eighteen miles. It has been known to circle the earth thirteen times before returning again to the planet.

The Evening World, through the courtesy of Capt. Nibbs, has secured a large quantity of the volcanic dust that fell at Martinique, and will take pleasure in forwarding to each of its readers that sends a stamped and self-addressed envelope to "Evening World, P. O. Box 1,354, N. Y. City," a sample of this dust that will serve as a souvenir of one of the greatest disasters the world has ever known.

Personal applications will not be considered. The dust can be secured only through the mail in the manner indicated.

STRIKE COMPLETE IN WEST VIRGINIA.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., June 7.—Advices from various points along the Norfolk and Western Railroad to-day are that almost every coal mine is tied up, the miners generally obeying the strike order. Something like ten thousand men are out in that field. At Simmons in the Pot Top field ninety-five per cent of the men quit work. About 20,000 men quit work in the State.

The three large collieries at Goodwill are completely at a standstill. At three of the mines on Tug River about one-third of the usual force are at work, but efforts are now being made by the strikers to induce them to quit. The Thacker field is also completely tied up, five hundred miners being out there.

At Dingess not a mine is in operation, the miners there numbering about six hundred. On the Elkfield, where 3,000 miners are usually at work, not 500 entered the mines to-day. This is the company that imported Hungarian miners to the field several months ago. None of them could speak English. They all joined the union in a body a few nights ago, and not a man of the number is at work to-day.

So far there has been no report of violence among the strikers. "Mother Jones," the famous Pennsylvania strike agitator, is on the ground urging the men to quit work and stay out until their demands are granted.

M'CANN BOY WORSE; HIS END SEEMS NEAR.

(Special to The Evening World.)
WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 7.—Twelve-year-old Charles McCann, the first victim of a coal and iron policeman's bullets, is dying. Held in prison, which was the night and blood poisoning is now feared.

Consequently the hearing to-day of the four coal and iron policemen who are accused of the shooting was very brief. Dr. Dougherty told of the lad's condition and the men were held without bail to await further developments.

WEATHER FORECAST.

Forecast for the thirty-six hours ending at 8 P. M. Sunday for New York City and vicinity: showers and thunderstorms this evening and to-night; Sunday showers; south, shifting to west, winds, fresh, except high during thunderstorms.

Commissioner of Police Partridge, fresh from his night-conference with Mayor Low, formally announced to-day that there would be AN IMMEDIATE REFORM OF THE POLICE DEPARTMENT.

He admitted that the Department is "HONEYCOMBED" WITH CORRUPTION, and as emphatically asserted that his work, looking toward an improvement, would be APPARENT FROM NOW ON.

The Commissioner also intimated that a big shakeup was impending.

"Will you name the new police captains to-day?" was asked.

"I cannot tell whether I will do so to-day or wait until Monday," the Commissioner replied.

"Who will the lucky men be?" "I won't say for sure," was the answer, "but" the Commissioner here picked up the printed Civil Service list of eligibles—"I think it'll be the first seven on this list."

The first seven on the list are the names printed at the beginning of this story.

Deputy Commissioners Thurston and Ebsstein called on the Commissioner in the afternoon and remained in secret conference with him for about two hours.

Then the three left headquarters together.

NO RESIGNATION.

In regard to the conference with Mayor Low at the latter's summer home on the Sound last night, the Commissioner said:

"I have not been asked to resign. It has not even been hinted to me that I should do so. The more Mayor Low and I see of each other the better we work together."

"Mayor Low and I went over the entire police situation, from doormen to inspectors. Nothing escaped consideration, not even the vacancy in the position of property clerk. Every detail was considered—the whole thing was gone over in detail. The Mayor gave me some advice."

"Was the discipline, or rather the lack of it, talked over?" was asked. "It was," said the Commissioner, "and let me say here that I don't believe the Police Department has received any more criticism from the newspapers, the City Club, or the public, than we give it ourselves. We appreciate the criticism, and we will improve."

"We have, however, accomplished something in the five months' work since the administration came in. The results of our efforts will now begin to be seen."

"Improvements will continue right along. I think now that the conditions are better than when we took hold. They are not perfect. The Police Department never will be perfect, not in my time nor in that of any other man. There will always be room for improvement."

Asked about the scene in the trial room at Police Headquarters Thursday when four policemen appeared intoxicated and the Commissioner said that didn't indict the whole force.

"Only one of those men was really drunk and he was promptly ordered out of the room by the Mayor. The other three were intoxicated, and serious charges might be made against him. But even supposing that four men were intoxicated? What are they out of a force of 7,000 men?"

"As a result of the recent agitation there has been any change in your relations with the Mayor?" he was asked. "I can't say this," answered the Commissioner.

"Persons are apt to criticize the Police Department," the Commissioner continued, "from the few observations they make in their own limited circle, and cannot see that conditions generally have improved. For example, at Mayor Low's last night the Mayor's niece was kind enough to say, 'Commissioner, I want to congratulate you on the improvement in the Police Department. I have noticed the change myself.'"

"In the past I have always had more or less trouble at the crossing at Forty-second street and Fifth avenue. Now it crosses without any difficulty."

"I asked her if she had made any particular observations of the work of the police anywhere else in the city, and she replied: 'No.'"

"Now, today I get a letter from a gentleman who probably crosses that place at a different time of day, for he says that he never had so much trouble in getting across."

DALESMAN, AT 9 TO 5, WINS GREAT AMERICAN STAKES.

Artvis Finishes Second and Martie Lewis Third for $10,000 Race—Col. Bill at 12 to 1 Beats Gold Heels and Blues in Handicap—Josapha Takes the First.

(Special to The Evening World.)
RACE TRACK, GRAVESEND, N. Y., June 7.—One of the best cards of the meeting brought out a very large attendance this afternoon in spite of the fact that the weather was threatening and the afternoon bid fair to be wet and disagreeable. A good shower in town as the great part of the crowd's waiting for the course, but it did not stop them, and the grand stand was packed when the bugle called the horses to the post in the first race.

The card was very attractive, the Great American and Broadway Stakes, containing fine fields of two and three years olds, respectively, being the features. There were also other very good races on the card that promised one of the best days' racing of the season.

The track was in perfect condition and weather was pleasant though threatening.

TRAVERS ISLAND, June 7.—In an exhibition race, with two pace-makers, Arthur Duffey, the world's champion sprinter, covered 60 yards in 6 2-5 seconds, equalling the world's record made in 1884 by Lou Meyers.

(Special to The Evening World.)
TRAVERS ISLAND, N. Y., June 7.—Despite threatening weather conditions that would daunt the average young woman, the feminine enthusiasts who look upon the N. Y. A. C. games as prepared for their special benefit, were out in force at this athletic field. True, a couple of rain squalls sweeping in from the Sound caused a sorry for the shelter of the club-house, but the only effect it had was to cause the postponement of the opening events for an hour.

Arthur Duffey, the holder of the world's 100-yard record, was an irresistible attraction to the dyed-in-the-wool athletic roster, for there were many guarded hints this week, to the effect that he would loosen an extra link in his speed to-day and take advantage of the fast track here to try for another record.

Several times in the earlier events proceedings were interrupted by brief squalls, and by the time the finals were reached the track was not at all conducive to record time.

The New York Athletic Club games, unlike those open to the general public, have to a certain extent the same spectators year after year. As a result nearly all the contestants' features were familiar to the occupants of the stand, and as each noted athlete breezed a trial sprint or essayed a series of lofty jumps in his warming-up work he was recognized and generously applauded by the spectators.

Many entries failed to appear for the earlier field competitions, being delayed by the usual block somewhere or other on the way out. This time the trouble was with the upper end of the Third Avenue "L" in New York, where enough
